

Making Your Path to Positive Plan: Step by Step

If you have already joined Blessed Tomorrow and made your commitment to leading on climate solutions in your faith community, you can take the next step by building your very own Path to Positive Plan. Creating it is easy, and you can adjust it at any time.

There are two parts to explore in your Path to Positive plan:

1. Actions to “Inspire Others,” will equip you to motivate your congregation’s leaders and members on climate solutions and help them make the connection between their faith and climate change
2. Actions to “Care for Creation” are climate-friendly practices you can implement to be a better steward in your congregation and community.

Each action step comes with a variety of tips, tools, and resources designed to help you fulfill your commitment and move along your path.

You can add or change the action steps in your plan at any time, save individual action steps as “favorites” to access later, share actions and resources with others, and download and print your plan as a tool to build support among your congregation. The Blessed Tomorrow planning tool also allows you to check “done,” and share your progress with others.

To create your customized Path to Positive plan, follow these easy steps:

1. Log on to blessedtomorrow.org with your unique username and password
2. Click on “Care for Creation” from the Path to Positive menu at the top of the page
3. Browse individual action steps and select “Add to Plan” for the actions you wish to complete
4. Access resources and tools by clicking on individual actions to help you complete them
5. Click on “Inspire Others” from the Path to Positive menu and follow steps two and three above
6. Go to your dashboard at any time to review what is in your Path to Positive Plan, download it for reference, check off completed steps, sort it, and share with others.
